INTRODUCTION

Two previous books on the Wells Family have been published, i. e., "The Genealogy of the Wells Family of Wells, Maine" by Charles K. Wells, published in 1874, and "The Genealogy of the Wells Family and Families Related" by his daughter, Mrs. Gertrude W. Wells-Cushing (Mrs. William Tileston Cushing), published in 1902.

The Wells line is largely a revision to bring Mrs. Cushing's book up-to-date. The entire ancestry of D. W. Norris on the Norris side has been added. Each family includes the brothers and sisters of the person who married into the direct line of descent.

The New England Historic Genealogical Society has been helpful in giving advice and loaning materials. No one from the Society has read the manuscript. All errors and omissions are those of the compilers. Send notice of omissions or corrections to the Wells Estate, Wells Building, Milwaukee, Wisconsin. All notes and manuscripts used in the compilation are on file in the Wells Estate office.

EXPLANATION

The number under the family name at the top of the page indicates where the record of the family can be found on the chart at the back of the book.

WELLS FAMILY

Each individual is designated by a number indicating his or her place in the genealogy.

The heavier number to the left marks the generation.

The name of a child in capital letters means that person appears again as a parent on the page indicated, where further information is given. For example, quoting from page 5:

3 ii JOHN WELLS, b. abt. 1638. (See p. 6.)

3—means he is the third person in the Wells line.

ii—means he is the second child born of his parents.

On page 6 he appears as:

2 3 JOHN WELLS, b. abt. 1638; d. April 11, 1677; m. Sarah Littlefield of Wells, Me., abt. 1664 or 1665. She was b. November 16, 1649. She m. 2d, William Sayer of Wells, before November 6, 1677. (See Littlefield Family #13, p. 234.)

The large 2 indicates that he is of the second recorded generation, and 3 is his number in the Wells line. His wife is number 13 in the Littlefield line. She appears on page 234, and her ancestry is recorded on the pages just preceding page 234.

A name printed in italics indicates that the line of descent is through that person.

Immediately after the full record of John Wells and his wife is the record of their children under

Children—Third Generation

10 i John Wells, b. 1670; d. 1748; m. Mary Peck, February 18, 1697.

This John Wells not capitalized means there is no further record of him and his descendants since he is not in the direct line we are following. Unmarried persons, and those who married but had no children, also appear only once.

Each fact in the genealogy is substantiated by a reference indicated by the footnote, key to which is contained in the bibliography.

Abbreviations: b., born; bp., baptized; dau., daughter; d. in index, daughter; d. in text, died; g. s., gravestone; H. C., Harvard College; h., husband; int., publication of intention of marriage; m., married; p. or pp., page or pages; pub., publication of intention of marriage; s., son; v., volume; w., wife; wid., widow.

(#512 on Chart)

"The Wells, or Welles family, in England is of very ancient origin, clearly traceable . . . it is claimed, to the time of the Norman conquest.[a]

"The Welles family was founded in the United States by emigrants from England, principally from Colchester, Essex County, during the religious persecutions under Charles I, 1625-48. Nathaniel Wells lived there (Colchester, England) when the Civil War began in England. He owned extensive and valuable ship-yards near there, and also was owner and proprietor of a large hotel in the place. During these religious persecutions in 1629, he nearly lost his life on account of some remarks he made at dinner one day, and was obliged to leave the country for safety, and flee to America. He landed at Boston in Massachusetts, and in 1639 or 1640 removed into Rhode Island with Richard Smith, and settled near Wickford. He called the place Wellestown. He was soon followed[b]

by his brothers, viz: Hugh of Hartford; Joseph of Boston; Deacon Thomas of Ipswich; George and William of Lynn, Mass., and Deacon Richard of Salisbury, Mass., who all came between 1630 and 1635.[a]

"About 1635 several families of that name (which was then spelt Wells, but oftener Welles), emigrated from England to Massachusetts. Some of these families remained in the eastern part of that state, others went to Rhode Island, others to Hartford and other towns in Connecticut, and still others to Hatfield and Hadley, in the western part of Massachusetts; so that we find at a very early day, before 1660, persons bearing that name in many towns of New England. It is probable that (1) Thomas Wells of Ipswich was one of the earliest emigrants of that name, who settled in this country. He came as early as 1635, and perhaps a year earlier. Savage, in his Genealogical Dictionary of New England, states that he came in 1635, on the 'Susan and Ellen', from London, with young Richard Saltonstall, when thirty years of age."[b] He was a physician, and came to Wells in 1657, later settled at Ipswich.[c]

1 1 THOMAS WELLS, Deacon and Doctor, b. 1605, Colchester, Essex County, England;[d] bp. December 11, 1605;[e] d. October 26, 1666;[d] m. Abigail Warner, July 23, 1630, Colchester, England, dau. of William Warner.[f] She d. July 22, 1671.[g] (See Warner Family #2, p. 350.)

[a]W4 pp130-131 [b]W8 p7 [c]W10 p614 [d]W4 p152
[e]W9 p9 [f]W9 p8 [g]H4 p402

"Thomas Wells was one of the earliest inhabitants of Ipswich. He took the Freeman's oath at Boston, May 7, 1637. He had a house lot granted to him in 1635, on the south side of the river, near where the Stone Bridge now is, and afterwards, in 1638, 'planting lands' near 'Heart-break Hill.' He probably came from Essex, England, having had relatives at Colchester, in that County at the time of his decease in 1666. He left three sons, Nathaniel, the eldest, John, and Thomas; and five daughters, Sarah Massie, of Salem, Abigail Tredwell, of Ipswich, Elizabeth, Hannah, and Lydia. The last named became Lydia Ropes before the decease of her mother in 1671. Nathaniel, the eldest son, with his wife Lydia, continued to reside in Ipswich until after the decease of his mother, who bequeaths to him the 'flax now growing.' He was probably father of Nathaniel, who was born 1669, and died at Ipswich, October 13, 1717, who was father of Capt. Nathaniel, who was born April 24, 1699 and died May 27, 1790. The Rev. Jonathan French, of North Hampton, in an article in the Genealogical Register, volume 1, page 43, states that the Rev. Nathaniel Wells, minister, of Deerfield, New Hampshire, was 'son of Deacon Nathaniel Wells, whose father was also Deacon Nathaniel Wells, who removed to Wells, Me., from Ipswich, Mass., and who was a son of Deacon Thomas Wells of Ipswich.' I suspect that there is an error here, and that the first Dea. Nathaniel Wells, of Wells, was son of John, second son of Thomas of Ipswich, who married Sarah, daughter of Francis Littlefield, and settled in Wells, which received its name from this family, having previously been called Preston.[a]

"His father transferred to him by a deed of gift, all his lands in that place, being about three hundred and fifty acres. To Thomas, the youngest son, the father by his will, dated July 3, 1666, bequeaths two hundred and fifty pounds sterling, to be paid him 'when he come to the age of 22 years, 4 months and 10 days.' By the same instrument, it appears that he was born '11th 11th mo., 1646' or January 11, 1647, of the present style. Why this precise period was fixed on for the payment of the legacy does not appear. Is it possible that the good Deacon could have dabbled in astrology? He also provides for the contingency of his son's 'Goeing to the colledge,' and bequeaths to him 'all the books I bought for his use, and my phissic books, and the books called orthodox evangelist.' Two books which would probably come under the latter description, 'The Soul's Preparation for[a] Christ,' and 'Parkins upon the Creed,' he had given to his daughters. (Mr. Wells says that this is not correctly stated, but that these books were given to his wife, as proved in the will of Thomas Wells, see Appendix, pages 4 and 8, of the Genealogy of the Wells Family, of Wells, Me., by Charles K. Wells.) From this bequest of 'phissic books,' the inference is drawn that he was a physician. The evidence is not quite conclusive, yet I know of no other. The books were appraised at £8 6s. 3d., a respectable medical library for those days. This was probably the Thomas Wells who, according to Farmer, was the first minister of Amesbury, ordained in 1672, and died July 10, 1734, aged eighty-six. If so, he was eighty-seven years and six months old at the time of his decease."[b]

Naval Academy, at Annapolis, Md., 1909, and received medals for service in the Haitian Campaign, and World War #1.[b] Capt. Van Valkenburgh, commander of the battleship U. S. S. Arizona, was described by Secretary of the Navy Knox as the outstanding hero at Pearl Harbor, December 7, 1941. "As the captain emerged from the conning tower to the bridge, his stomach was laid completely open by a shrapnel burst. Refusing to be carried to safety, he continued to direct the action. When the bridge became a blazing inferno, two officers attempted to remove him, but he ordered them to abandon him and save themselves." The Arizona was sunk by Japanese bombs. A destroyer will be named in his honor.[c]

Office of the Milwaukee Sentinel and Gazette

Milwaukee, June 13, 1851

Dear Sir:

Trusting that this letter will find you still in England, I venture to commend to your acquaintance my friend, Daniel Wells, one of the first settlers and most reputable citizens of Milwaukee. He is, as you will presently ascertain, a genuine Yankee; shrewd, observing and practical. He goes to London to see all the "notions" in The World's Fair, and takes a rather cute Wisconsin "notion" with him, which I beg you to look at. Any advice or assistance that it may be in your power or disposition to give Mr. Wells, will be worthily bestowed and gratefully appreciated by himself, as well as by

Yours very truly,

Rufus King (Signed)

DANIEL WELLS, JR.

"Daniel Wells, Jr., Milwaukee's oldest pioneer resident, died at his home, 1906 Grand Avenue, Milwaukee, Tuesday evening, March 18, 1902, aged 93 years.

"Mr. Wells was born at Waterville, Maine, July 16, 1808, the son of a farmer and manager of a cloth dressing mill. His educational opportunities were limited, but he qualified himself for teaching school, and did this for two terms before reaching his majority.

"In 1830, when but twenty-two years of age, he invested his small earnings in a stock of apples, cider, butter, cheese, dry goods, etc., and took them to Magnolia, Florida, where he sold them with profit. He returned to Maine in 1831, and opened a general store in Palmyra, and in the same year he was married to Miss Marcia Bryant, a daughter of Dr. Bezer Bryant of North Anson, Somerset County, Maine.

"Opportunities for successful enterprise in Milwaukee caught Mr. Wells' fancy in 1835, and after a visit he moved to Milwaukee, arriving here with his family May 19, 1836. He was appointed a justice of the peace for Milwaukee County after he had been here three months, and he is said to have been the first justice of the peace in the territory of Wisconsin. In March, 1837, he was elected a member of the claim organization formed to protect squatters until they could get title to their lands. In 1838 he became a trustee of the east side of Milwaukee, a municipal position, and on September 4 of the same year he became probate judge. In 1836 he made the first lot survey on the south side, then known as Walker's Point. He was fire warden, undersheriff, commissioner in bankruptcy, county supervisor, county surveyor, member of the territorial council, the first legislative body that met in Madison; member of the committee on territorial affairs, ways and means, school, territorial roads and enrollment of that body; an advocate of the bridging of the Milwaukee River; and an advocate of a law protecting actual settlers against non-resident land holders, a law which remained in force until the territory was admitted as a state. He was also one of those who worked to secure a charter for the Wisconsin Marine and Fire Insurance Company.

"Four years of service in the territorial legislature proved enough for him and the year 1851 found him abroad as the representative of Wisconsin at the World's Exposition in London (where he exhibited a wooden copy of a stave mill). In 1852 he was elected to Congress from the First District and proceeded at once to promote the interests of the state; supported government grants of land for railroad purposes, and secured appropriations of $88,000 for a federal building site in Milwaukee. He advocated harbor improvements and the reduction of ocean postage rates and other desirable legislation. In the next session he brought about an amendment to the rules making it necessary to have only a plurality to elect the speaker of the house and this work broke a four week's deadlock.

"He then declined re-election and devoted himself to business.

"He built the City Hotel, now the Kirby House, which was the first brick hotel in the city. He engaged in the storage and shipping trade; dealt largely in grain and wool; was one of the organizers of the Madison, Watertown and Milwaukee Plank Road Company, and from 1847 to the present time had been largely engaged in the lumber trade, and had been associated with many of the lumbermen in Wisconsin and Michigan in all branches of business. He was interested in the banking business, having been a director of the Wisconsin Marine and Fire Insurance Bank for many years, and president of the Green Bay Bank and of its successor, the First National of La Crosse. He was vice-president of the old Board of Trade, and was long a member of the Chamber of Commerce, and was a director of the Northwestern National Insurance Company. He was one of the organizers of the various branches of what is now the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway system (later changed to Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific Railroad Company, commonly called Milwaukee Road). He was one of the incorporators of the Milwaukee and Mississippi, and the Milwaukee and Watertown Railroad Companies, and was president of the latter after it became the Milwaukee and La Crosse Railroad. He was also president and director of the Southern Minnesota, and the St. Paul and Minnesota Valley Roads.

"He was in his time a small storekeeper, sailor and shipowner, and surveyor in the east; town clerk, justice of the peace, member of territorial council, judge of probate court, sheriff, commissioner of bankruptcy and congressman, lumberman, commission merchant, grain shipper and warehouseman; shipowner and steamboatman; railroad constructor, owner and manager-manufacturer, architect and builder; farmer and dairyman and banker; the owner of large properties in Sheboygan, Escanaba, Milwaukee and Chicago, formerly having owned large tracts all along the lake shore at points where it seemed likely towns would spring up; was interested in the Old Insurance Building, Wells Building, a large number of smaller buildings, and many of the large structures in the lower ends of East Water Street and Broadway. He was a man of calm judgment. John Johnston, an old-time friend and intimate acquaintance, said he had never seen him hurry in the forty-six years he had known him. He did not smoke or drink; he had no extravagant habits. He was frugal and never indulged in luxuries, even after he became a multi-millionaire.

"A tribute to Daniel Wells, Jr., by William P. M'Laren, vice-president of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company, reveals a literary bent in his character which few of those who knew him in business suspected him to possess. 'I knew Mr. Wells for many years. He was a man of exceptionally good business judgment, great force of character and clearness of perception in business details. His successful career was the natural and proper reward of exceptional qualities as a business man. Mr. Wells was fond of reading, and had an unusual familiarity with many of the best writers, both prose and poetry, and could recite from Shakespeare, Burns and others to the extent that very few men can equal. He was admirably equipped for the work of a pioneer, and he made a mark in the early history of Milwaukee which is equalled by few and surpassed by none.' "

MRS. CHARLES W. (FANNIE WELLS) NORRIS

MRS. CHARLES W. NORRIS (FANNIE WELLS)

"A long career of philanthropic activity, civic interest and work for the welfare of young people ended April 26, 1937, in the death of Mrs. Fannie Wells Norris, 85, at her home, 1914 W. Wisconsin Avenue.

"Mrs. Norris, wife of Charles Wilkins Norris, was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Wells, Jr. Her father, pioneer lumberman who came to Milwaukee from Waterville, Me., in 1835, was reputed at one time to be the wealthiest Wisconsin citizen. She spent her girlhood in the west side home her father had purchased from Harrison Ludington, who later became governor of Wisconsin. To the rear of the house were a pasture and a pond, and beyond that a woods which now is W. Kilbourn Avenue. To the east was Camp Scott, where the boys in blue trained for the Civil War. Mrs. Norris often told how little Fannie Wells used to peek through the fence, fascinated with military maneuvers.

"Mrs. Norris was educated in Milwaukee at the Wheelock school. Annual reunions of the 'Wheelock girls' were held over the teacups in the Norris mansion, the great white house which stands on the eminence at N. Nineteenth Street and W. Wisconsin Avenue.

"A former school director and a member of the library board, Mrs. Norris joined with Mrs. Simon Kander in establishing sewing and cooking as courses in the public schools. She pioneered in the playground and social center movement, and she was active in gaining the establishment of girls' trade schools here. She frequently entertained the West Division High School Club in her home.

"Mrs. Norris joined the Woman's Club of Wisconsin in 1884. She was a life member of the College Endowment Association, an honorary president of the League of Women Voters and an early member of the Social Economics Club, a leading women's organization here in an earlier day.

"In 1921 Mrs. Norris became the first donor of a free chest clinic, sponsored by the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association, to a Wisconsin town. She was named by the American Red Cross in 1923 as the benefactor who made possible educational work among the refugee children in the Salonica district of Greece.

"In memory of her mother, Mrs. Norris financed the building of the Marcia Wells Memorial Chapel at Plymouth Congregational Church, 2717 E. Hampshire Street.

"Her son, Daniel, popularly known as Niel, founded a farm home for delinquent boys in 1917, on a 731-acre tract at Mukwonago. Mrs. Norris was a godmother to the boys at the farm. Each year she entertained the youthful farm residents and also the Usterwuzzers, an organization of boys formerly at the institution.

" 'Wisconsin has lost its greatest woman,' Miss Lutie Stearns said, speaking of Mrs. Norris. 'There was no good cause that she did not aid. She gave of her means and time to secure woman suffrage. She helped to finance the League of Women Voters after women had gained the vote. She financed a campaign to set up social centers in Milwaukee. She gave aid to hospitals and church organizations. Her interest in the poor was beautiful. It is safe to say that no day of her life passed when she did not do something for some unfortunate or for some good cause. She was a model in her thought for others. Her loss will be felt more keenly than that of anyone in the State who has gone before her.' "

CHARLES WILKINS NORRIS

CHARLES WILKINS NORRIS

"On Broadway and Oneida Street, Milwaukee, in a home which still stands, Charles W. Norris was born in 1849. He graduated from the Seventh Ward School and Markham's Academy, of which now only the memory survives, and studied for one year at Racine College, and two years at the University of Michigan.

"Upon his return from college, in 1867, he took his first position as bookkeeper in the office of Norris & Kershaw, grain brokers. The senior member of the firm was his father, G. D. Norris. Two years later, Mr. Norris, senior, died, and the son was left to take care of his father's interests in the business of G. D. Norris, ship chandler. Mr. Norris was for a time associated with F. W. Montgomery in the Badger Knitting Company. In recent years he has had extensive lumber and mining holdings. He was vice-president and secretary of the Wisconsin Iron & Wire Works.

"In 1878, he married Miss Frances Wells, daughter of Daniel Wells, Jr.

"He was a student of contemporary social questions, had a keen appreciation of literature and was a discriminating art critic; yet few persons outside of his immediate circle ever knew it. He made two trips abroad, one to Algiers and Egypt and one to the European continent. Even here his love of the unostentatious was reflected. He kept away from the tourist-beaten paths and spent much of his time in obscure towns and villages among the ordinary folk. He spent three weeks in a little Spanish village in the home of a painter in whose work he thought he had found the stroke of genius. His interest in farming led him to purchase seventy acres of land near Okauchee, which he organized into a model farm.

"Mr. Norris was a charter member of the Milwaukee Athletic Club and the Milwaukee Boat Club. (He was also a charter member of the City Club, and the Light Horse Squadron which later became the Wisconsin National Guard Cavalry.) In his youth he was an excellent oarsman and rowed on the lower Milwaukee River on the four-oared shell of the Milwaukee Boat Club. For a time the members called themselves the Modocs. He belonged to the Milwaukee Automobile Club, the Old Settlers' Club, and was one of the founders of the Provident Loan Society, of which he was president from 1909 to 1914.

" 'He gave more money to the poor, without his good deeds being known, than any other man in Milwaukee,' remarked a business associate of him recently. 'He always avoided publicity. I remember how provoked he became about six years ago when his name was mentioned in the papers in connection with some charity. In one society alone he aided at least fifty persons by financial contributions, taking great pains, all the time, that the source of the charity should never be known.' "

DANIEL WELLS NORRIS

DANIEL WELLS NORRIS

"The work that Daniel (Niel) Wells Norris has been doing for thirty years to direct the energies of unfortunate boys into normal, healthy channels received recognition when the Cosmopolitan Club medal for outstanding civic service was awarded to Mr. Norris on October 22, 1941.

"So smoothly and unostentatiously has the Norris Foundation worked that most Milwaukeeans are inclined to forget about it. The Farm comprises more than 700 acres, now has sixty boys who go to school, help with the farm work, and enjoy life more than most of them would in broken homes.

"Mr. Norris, grandson of Daniel Wells, Jr., a pioneer Milwaukeean, has spent a considerable share of his fortune on behalf of boys. Friends say his expenditures are nearly $100,000 a year, a small part of which is returned through payments made by parents of some of the boys who live there.

"The idea of helping mischievous and unfortunate boys grew out of an experience Mr. Norris had thirty years ago. Small boys had been stealing lamp bulbs from his automobile. He caught one, and after considering what to do about it reported the case to police. Officers investigated and found a gang of small boys was filching batteries, bulbs and other electrical devices for experimental work which they carried out in the workshop of one lad's father. Two of the boys were placed on probation to Mr. Norris. Other boys later were turned over by the courts to Mr. Norris for care. Out of this developed a boys' camp.

"During World War #1, Mr. Norris conducted a large camp for boys in connection with the wartime organization known as 'Soldiers of the Soil' which had been promoted by the Labor Bureau in Washington, D. C. High School boys were excused from school in May and went to the camp, where they helped farmers harvest crops until late in September. Mr. Norris found, in talking with the boys, that some of them could not return to their homes, which had been broken up by separation, or for other reasons. He acted promptly, purchasing a number of farms near Mukwonago. On October 24, 1917, the first unit of the Norris Farm was ready for occupancy. Its work of training youth has continued ever since.

"To Mr. Norris, all of his boys are 'members of the family'.

"The Norris Foundation, organized in 1927, is financed by gifts from Mr. Norris."

BIGELOW FAMILY

(#408 on Chart)

The Bigelows came to Marlborough, Mass., from Watertown, Mass., between 1690 and 1700. This family was early in America, and may be traced to a remote period in England, even to the reign of Henry III, when the name was written Baguley, and was derived from the place where they dwelt. Richard was at that time Lord of Baguley, and his descendants took the name of the place. In the reign of Henry VII, Ralph de Baguley was Lord of Ollerton Hall and died, 1540, leaving Randall and Nicholas. Randall died, 1556, and his sons, Philip and Robert, divided his estate. Robert died, 1582, leaving Randall and John, both of whom moved to Suffolk. Randall died, 1626, leaving two sons, Francis and John. Francis died, 1657, and gave by will a portion of his property to his brother John, then in New England.[a]

HITCHINGS FAMILY*

From the "Genealogical Gleanings in England," by Mr. Waters, it appears that Daniel and Joseph Hitchings emigrated to America from London, and the following extract from the will of Samuel Hitchings establishes their identity:

"Samuel Hitchins, citizen and draper of London, 16th of March, 1676, with a codicil made July 27, 1679; proved December 3, 1679. To my dear and loving wife, Sarah, my two messuages, &c., in the parish of St. Lawrence, Old Jewry, London, which I hold by lease from the Co. of Clothworkers, and if she die before the expiration of the term, &c., then to my son, Giles Hitchins, or to my grandson, Robert Hitchins, which of them my said wife shall think fit to give or bequeath the same. To wife my freehold messuages in Robin Hood, Ct., St. Mary, Aldermary, London, and the rents, &c., for her life, and then to my grandson, Robert Hitchins, remainder to son, Giles, and next to my two nephews, Daniel and Joseph Hitchins (sons of my brother, Daniel Hitchins), who are now living in New England, near Boston. To my loving brother Daniel Hitchins, one annuity of £10 for life, payable quarterly. To my nephew,

John Moore was in Sudbury in 1642,[c] and may have come to America from London in the "Planter" in 1635, at the age of twenty-four, or he may have arrived in 1638.[d] In September, 1642, he bought of Edmund Rice a house and land in that part of Sudbury now called Wayland. Took oath of fidelity at Sudbury, July 9, 1645, and the same year bought of John Stone dwelling house, house lot, and all other lands and meadows belonging to Stone. John Moore was a prominent citizen, and a prosperous farmer and land owner. His will is dated August 25, 1668; proved, April 7, 1674.[e]

NORRIS FAMILY

(#1 on Chart)

The Norrises were an old English family of Berkshire, England. Sir William Norris, great grandfather of Sir Henry Norris (sometimes Norreys) commanded a part of the royal troops at the battle of Stoke in 1487. The Norris Arms date back to 1386 or earlier. (See Harleian records in the British Museum.) Sir Henry Norris was knighted in 1566, created Baron Norris of Roycote in 1570-72, and sent as ambassador to France by Queen Elizabeth. His monument is in Saint Andrew's Chapel, Westminster Abbey.[a]

Lord and Lady Norris had six sons, the second of whom was John Norris, the grandfather (?) of Nicholas Norris, the first one of the family in America of whom we have any record.[a]

1 1 NICHOLAS NORRIS, b. abt. 1640; d. abt. 1725; m. Sarah Coxe, January 21, 1664,[b] Hampton, N. H.,[c] dau. of Moses and Alice Coxe.[b] (See Coxe Family #4, p. 150.) Nicholas Norris appears to have been a direct descendant of William Norreys of Sutton, England. He settled in Hampton, abt. 1654.[d] In 1666 he moved to Exeter, N. H., took oath of allegiance, 1667. He was a soldier in King Philip's War, 1676; desired the jurisdiction of Massachusetts, 1690; and served as soldier under Kingsley Hall, 1698.[b]

Greenleaf Dudley Norris moved from Boston to Milwaukee, Wis., in 1845, and established the firm of G. D. Norris & Co., ship chandlers, in which business he was engaged at the time of his death. He was also the[a] senior member of the grain commission firm of Norris & Kershaw. He was closely identified with the marine and commercial interests of Milwaukee for twenty-four years, and was a prominent, highly respected member of the business and social life of that city. His death was due to a fall down the stairs of the furnace room in his residence on Van Buren Street. His demise in the midst of an active, successful career was a sad, untimely event distressing alike to his family and his many friends.

The continuance of his business interests and the care of their family devolved largely upon his very able wife, Alice Brazer Norris, who was a woman of manifold capacities. She assumed the burden of care and responsibility left to her with splendid determination and energy. Through all of the remaining years of her life, she rose to every emergency with a courage as indomitable as was ever shown by man or woman, and when she finally passed away to her reward, left an inheritance of sublime faith and a record of Christian endeavor such as is rarely written upon the tablets of time.[e]

PIKE FAMILY

1 1 JOHN PIKE, d. May 26, 1654, Salisbury, Mass.,[a] m. Dorothy Day, January 17, 1612-13, Whiteparish, Wilts, England.[b] Came from Langford, England, in the ship "James" to Newbury, Mass., in 1635, but was perhaps first at Ipswich, Mass. He was recorded as "laborer," but evidently was a man of education. He acted as attorney in the courts in 1636-37.[c] His will was dated May 24, 1654, and proved October 3, 1654.[a] Most of his children were probably born at Langford, where the registers before 1671 were lost. The Pike wills fail to show his parentage.[b]

(See Sanders Family #4, p. 301.) He m. 2d, Mrs. Martha (Moyce) Goldwyer, October 30, 1684,[a] widow of George Goldwyer. She d. February 26, 1712-13, Salisbury. Robert Pike was of Newbury, Mass., in 1635. In February, 1637-38, he received land in the first division of Salisbury, in 1640, '41, '42, and '54. From the deposition of "Smith and Pressey," it appears he visited England in 1650-51. His name heads the list of "commoners," after the minister, in 1650; he paid the largest tax in 1652, and signed the petition of 1658. Maj. Robert and Mrs. Pike were first on the list of members of the Salisbury church in 1687, and he was the most prominent citizen of Salisbury during the last half of the Seventeenth Century. His wife, Martha, signed the Bradbury petition of 1692. He took oath of freeman, May 17, 1637. He was Representative in 1648, and several years following; assistant in 1682-86, '90, and '91. Member of the Council many years down to 1696, and Justice of the Peace many more. He was Major of the Old Norfolk Regiment, May 31, 1670. He was very decided in his opinions, which were liberal, in advance of his time. He has been called "the moral and fearless hero of New England," "the first and strongest representative of the right of petition," "the power which squelched the witchcraft delusion," etc. The full record of his civil and military life may be found in the "New Puritan." Administration of his estate, May 21, 1707; accounting, May, 1708.[b]

CHILD—SECOND GENERATION

2 i JOHN WHEELWRIGHT, b. abt. 1592-94. (See below.)

2 2 REV. JOHN WHEELWRIGHT, b. abt. 1592-94, Lincolnshire, England; d. November 15, 1679, Salisbury, Mass., m. Marie Storre, November 8, 1621,[b] Bilsby, Lincolnshire, England,[c] dau. of Rev. Thomas Storre, vicar there. She d. 1630,[a] England. He m. 2d, Mary[b] (Marie) Hutchinson, dau. of Edward Hutchinson, Alford, Lincolnshire, England, in 1631.[a] (See Hutchinson Family #5, p. 218). John Wheelwright, an American clergyman, was a graduate of Cambridge, a classmate of Oliver Cromwell, and for some years a clergyman of the established church at Alford, near Boston, Lincolnshire; but in 1636, being driven from his church by Archbishop Laud, he emigrated to Boston in New England, where the same year he was chosen pastor of a branch of the Boston church in what is now Braintree. The celebrated Mrs. Anne Hutchinson was his sister-in-law, and he partook of her views. Differences of opinion led to personal animosities between him and Mr. Wilson, the pastor of the Boston church; and the General Court in session of[d]

[a]N2 p638 [b]S2 v1 p356 [c]W11 v1 p73 [d]A3 v16 p594

1636-37 appointed a fast, partly to heal these dissensions. On this occasion Mr. Wheelwright preached in Boston, Mass., and as his enemies asserted (though the manuscript of the sermon still in existence does not justify the assertion) denounced the ministers and magistrates. The General Court pronounced him guilty of sedition and contempt, for which after some months delay he was banished with his friends from the colony. In 1638 he formed a settlement on the banks of the Piscataqua, which he called Exeter. After a residence of five years here, the town was declared to be within the limits of Massachusetts, and he moved with a part of his church to Wells in the district of Maine. In 1644 a reconciliation took place between him and the colonial government of Massachusetts, in consequence of some acknowledgment on his part, he returned to that colony in 1646, and settled in Hampton, where he remained eight years. In 1654 he published his "Vindication." About 1657 he went to England, where Cromwell received him cordially; but he returned in 1660, and settled as pastor in Salisbury.[a]

3 9 SAMUEL WHEELWRIGHT, b. 1635, England; d. May 15, 1700, Wells, m. Esther Houchin, dau. of Jeremy Houchin of Dorchester, Mass.[d] (See Houchin Family #2, p. 214.) He was one of the prominent men of the day in which he lived, having very early been called to public life. We must infer from this fact that he was endowed with an intellect superior to that of the generality of men. He came over to New England when an infant; and to Wells, when but six or seven years of age. Here he had no opportunity of attending school. The family moved to Hampton in 1645; afterwards, to Salisbury. The means for education in either of those places must have been very limited; so that his intellectual culture, whatever it was, was acquired from the instructions of his father. He probably came to Wells after he arrived at maturity, his father deeding to him one-half of his farm. When only thirty years old he was clerk of the writs and town clerk. These two offices appear to have been united into one, both in Maine and Massachusetts. He was town clerk twenty-nine years. In 1665 he was appointed lieutenant of the militia. But he does not seem to have been efficient as a military man, being much better fitted for civil life. In 1666 he was appointed Judge of the Inferior Court of Common Pleas. He was chosen County Treasurer in 1674, but declined taking that office; in 1676 he was again chosen by the people and accepted the situation. In 1677 he was the Representative from York and Wells. In 1681 he was appointed by the King one of the Provincial Council; in 1695 Judge of the Court of Probate, and by William and Mary a Judge of the Court of Common Pleas. So that from the time he came to Wells until his death he was continually in the public service.[a]

4 15 COLONEL[b] JOHN WHEELWRIGHT, b. abt. 1664; d. August 13, 1745; m. Mary Snell, January 28, 1688-89.[c] (See Snell Family #5, p. 323.) He was born of parents whose constitutions had been formed by continual contact with the hardships attendant upon frontier life, and educated under influences which trained both mind and body for any warfare. He was a man of war and a host within himself, and was therefore just the man for the times, sent into the world by Providence to assist in protecting the new settlements against the assaults of the French and Indians, and before the close of his life he came to be regarded as the bulwark of Maine against the attacks of its enemies. He was Town Clerk forty years, also one of the selectmen. He was Judge of the Court of Common Pleas, Judge of Probate and one of the Councilors of the Province. In early manhood he was commissioned as a lieutenant of the militia, afterwards as captain, major and colonel. He was in the service as an officer under Major Convers; went to Pemaquid and Sheepscot, thence to Trebonit, and was afterwards stationed at Fort Mary on Saco River. The government relied upon him with great confidence.[b]

[a]W10 p232 [b]W10 p390 [c]S2 v2 p607

He was endowed with a brave and noble spirit, awake to all the interests of the Province as well as those of the town,[a] and prepared for any sacrifice which might become necessary for the common cause. Two companies, under the command of Captains Cutter and Miller, were sent into Maine for operations in the eastern part of the Province. These companies he allowed to take possession of his house and use it for all purposes. The house, though a large one, did not answer their full purposes, and it was taken down by them with the intention of rebuilding; but, being called away and stationed at another place, it was left prostrate and no attempt at its restoration was ever made by the government, or remuneration offered for its destruction. The war with the Indians was renewed in 1704, and he was left to rebuild his garrison house at his own cost. This appropriation of his property by the government did not move him from his devotion to the public service. His patriotism was superior to all personal interests. Being a judicious and energetic man, his aid was sought on all occasions by the people. When a young man he acquired the special friendship of Col. Church, from the confidence which he had in his fidelity to all authority which was committed to him, and when the people of Wells were shut up in the garrisons and were suffering much from the necessities of their condition, all means of obtaining supplies being cut off, Col. Church, at the request of Wheelwright, obtained a contribution from all the churches in the Counties of Plymouth, Barnstable and Bristol for their benefit. These supplies were sent to Wheelwright, Storer and John Littlefield to be appropriated as they should judge expedient.[b]

[a]W10 p390 [b]W10 p391

In his will, dated April 11, 1739, he says: "I commend my soul to God, my Creator, hoping for pardon of all my sins and everlasting salvation through the alone merits of Jesus Christ." He gives his wife Mary four or five acres at Little River, with the sawmill and stream owned with John Wells; his household goods, stock of cattle of all kinds, negro or mulatto servants, money, etc., legacies to his daughters, Mary Plaistead, Elizabeth Neumarch, Mary Moody and Sarah Jefferds; devises to his sons, John, Samuel, Jeremiah, Nathaniel; also to his "daughter, Esther Wheelwright, if living in Canada, whom (he says) I have not heard from these many years, and hath been absent more than thirty years."[a] His will was probated, April 8, 1746. His wife's will was dated November 16, 1750; probated, July 16, 1755.[b]

His daughter, Esther, when only seven years of age, was captured by the Indians and taken to Canada. He made every effort to effect her exchange but without avail. Some years later she was baptized into the Roman Catholic Church, and was afterward Sister Superior of the Ursuline Convent at Quebec.[c]

WIGGLESWORTH FAMILY

(#444 on Chart)

1 1 EDWARD WIGGLESWORTH, d. October 1, 1653, New Haven,[a] age 49 years; m. Esther Rayner, perhaps sister of Rev. John Rayner. (See Raynor (Rayner) Family #2, p. 292.) Edward Wigglesworth of New Haven, 1638, had come in August of that year to Massachusetts, with wife and son Michael, and taught his rudiments by the famous Ezekiel Cheever, Harvard College, 1651. He was a man of good repute and comfortable estate. Of his last sickness he gave account in a letter to John Winthrop, July 18, 1653. In his will made six days before that letter, he names only children, Michael and Abigail, to whom he gives £160 and £80, severally, but directs that her share be paid at 20 years of age, and all the residuary estate to wife Esther, who, though constituted executrix, was with her daughter, committed to the son, then residing at Cambridge, studying for his profession and an officer of the college,[b] with this injunction, "that he do endeavor as far as he may with convenience, have them near unto him, wherever it pleases God to cast him."[c]
